THREE MISSING ON BOAT TRIP STILL UNFOUND

Planes Comb Sloughs In Search of Hunters Lost Five Days

MARTINEZ, Oct. 27.—Mrs. Antonio Bellici, wife of one of the missing duck hunters whose safety is causing grave concern to the members of their families following their disappearance last Saturday night an expectant mother, left yesterday for Sacramento to join her parents while the search for her husband, August Re and 14-year-old Francis Nemanich, continues.

NO TRACE
Absolutely no trace, of the two hunters and the boy had been reported up to late tonight despite the fact that A. Dowello, brother-in-law of Re, spent all of yesterday afternoon combing the labyrinth of sloughs and inlets of the upper Suisun bay marshes and the lower delta from the cockpit of an airplane, chartered in Oakland. While Dowello from the air, with the aid of powerful glasses, was seeking clues to the fate of the trio, speed boats were patrolling the upper bay waters and sloughs. But one report was made by all after the all-day hunt:

"Nothing doing."
RUMORS SCOTTED
Rumor last night that Bellici and Re had been seen in Sacramento was scouted. Mrs. Bellici is in a delicate condition and a state of near-collapse today in Sacramento.

Families of the men, authorities here and members of the searching parties, are absolutely at a loss to account for the complete disappearance of the trio. If their launch capsized and they were drowned, some trace of the boat or its equipment should have been discovered by some one of the many boats navigating the upper bay and sloughs long before now, experienced river boat operators say.

FUMES, CLUE?
If the craft caught fire and burned some one of the many ranchers on the islands should have seen the glare of the fire, authorities say. On the other hand an experienced boatman today advanced the theory that the three may have gone to sleep in the launch and been overcome by engine fumes, the small craft eventually drifting into some small bayou.

Wine Proves Costly To El Cerrito Man

ALBANY, Oct. 27.—Three glasses of wine cost Frank Rawlins, painter of 606 Everett St., El Cerrito, exactly $66.25 last night.
Rawlins appeared before Judge George Hickman of Albany charged with reckless driving as a result of crashing into an electric trolley at Santa Fe and Solano avenues. The street light was demolished by the impact. "Just had three glasses of wine, your honor," said Rawlins when he appeared in court.
"Those are going to be pretty expensive drinks for you," was the judge's answer. Rawlins was given a fine of $25 and in addition was presented with a bill for $41.25 for repairs to the electric trolley.

The services this afternoon in the chapel will be conducted by McKinley lodge of Masons. The Independent Order of Odd Fellows will conduct the burial services in Sunset View Cemetery. The Richmond Kiwanis club of which Justice Roth was an active member will attend the services in a body.

Builders Held Instrumental In Destroying Section Strife

Northern and Southern Exchange Cooperate For Bigger State

The disappearance of the "imaginary line which divides northern and southern California" as a result of get-together meetings of builders of both sections, was predicted last night at the Hal-lows' party of the Contra Costa Builders' Exchange. The official delegate from the local exchange, Leonard Dexter, and P. M. Sanford, past president of the exchange, reported on the builders' convention which convened in Pasadena at the Hotel Maryland last Monday.

A strengthened California State Builders' Exchange was said to be in the making because of the late convention and others which will follow, the next to be in January in Fresno. Twenty exchanges were represented at the Pasadena convention, the territory represented stretching from Napa south to San Diego. Four hundred delegates attended. Sanford, who is now president of the state exchange, was complimentary on its efforts to create a more amicable attitude between the sections of the state, and for his efforts to make the state organization more operative.

A meeting of the presidents and secretaries of the exchanges was also held on the first day of the session, last Monday. This meeting was attended by Leonard C. Dexter, secretary of the local exchange. The wives of delegates who attended the convention, were provided trips through Pasadena and Santa Monica.

The entertainment committee at the banquet last night presented four boxing bouts through the courtesy of the El Cerrito Athletic club. They were the following: Billy Limer, Oakland vs. Jules Munier, also of Oakland; Roy McIntyre, Oakland, vs. Roy Kite, also of Oakland; Mickey Brown, Richmond vs. Joe Lavigne, Oakland; and Robert Gibson, Oakland vs. Felix Munier. The matches were all three rounds, two minute affairs. The banquet which was served by the Cathleen Coffee shop, was attended by over 100 members of the exchange, and was one of the most successful so far, according to Dexter. The general chairman for the evening was Louis B. Heatley.

CURIOSITY? MEN, WOMEN HELD EQUAL

Are Richmond people curious? It would seem so, for last night and the night before "several hundred" people called upon the Richmond Police Department to explain the meaning of the lights that illuminated the skies all over the bay district.

And the answer was: Uncle Sam's cruisers and battleships helping to celebrate Navy Day with searchlights (some ambitious admirals may have concentrated the lights on Richmond with the thought of locating here when his sea-faring days were over).
And Richmond women will have to be exonerated as far as curiosity is concerned for quite as many men "called up" to find out what it was all about as men.

Flores In Court Today To Face Murder Count

MARTINEZ, Oct. 27.—Preliminary examination of Labrado Flores, 35, held on a murder charge following the death of Antonio Miral, 34, father of four children, in a stabbing affair in North Richmond Sunday night, will be held tomorrow morning before Justice of the Peace Frank Glass. COMPLAINANT MAY PETITION COURT ACTION

OFFICER ADMITS DRINKING BEFORE HEARING THAT RESULTED IN FILING OF CHARGES

Following four hours of hearing testimony, the City Council of El Cerrito last night acquitted Traffic Officer Wesley Zimmerman of charges preferred against him by two residents of that city, following the stormy session October 10 which resulted in the ousting of Engineer Arthur Byrd of the Fire Department.

TWO MAKE CHARGES
The charges were made by F. B. Faria who alleged that Zimmerman seized him, tore his clothing and forced him into his seat while he, Faria, was exercising his rights as a citizen; and by Charles Kaufman who accused the officer of threatening him, challenging him to fight and pulling at him.

MAY APPEAL CASE
Faria intimated last night after the council refused to find Zimmerman guilty of the charges that he would carry the charges into court. The final vote on the charges stood with all the members of the council in favor of acquittal with the exception of Councilman Lee who previously made the motion that the officer be discharged, but could not get a second to his motion.

Preceding the hearing of testimony, Mayor Fred Lutz warned the spectators that he would not tolerate a recurrence of the scene at the Byrd hearing when the spectators, applauded and hissed statements of the various factions.

HOLD OFFICER INTOXICATED
The charges of the two men were substantiated by Mrs. E. Newhoff who declared in her opinion Officer Zimmerman was in an intoxicated condition at the time; by the complainants who detailed the charges; by Mrs. Faria who accompanied her husband to the hearing; by W. D. Stark, George Barber, A. A. Arneson who testified to profanity used by the officer, A. Fairbanks and Chief of Police Forest Wright who declared that neither Zimmerman nor Officer Frank Walsh were on duty at the time and who testified that Zimmerman had been drinking.

DENY PROFANITY
Witnesses for the defense denied that the officer used profanity and declared that the two plain-tiffs were disturbing the peace at the time the officers rushed among the spectators and attempted to quiet the noise. The witnesses were Fire Chief W. A. Hinds, Mrs. Hinds, Engineer William Porter who succeeded Byrd in office in the fire department, Mrs. Porter, A. J. Reed and Mrs. Reed, H. J. Fineberg of Oakland, Elliott Freeman, a partner of Zimmerman in an oil station, Geo. Kelly, and Officer Frank Walsh who with Zimmerman attempted to quell the disturbance. A number of defense witnesses failed to appear.

Councilman Phil A. Lee brought out during the hearing that most of the defense witnesses were either connected by employment with the city or in business with the defendant.

ADDMITS DRINKING
Zimmerman on the stand admitted that he had been drinking but said that he had not been intoxicated and denied that he had threatened either Kaufman or Faria saying that he merely told Kaufman to keep quiet or he would put him out. He denied that he had had previous orders to prevent anyone from speaking at the session but had orders to prevent any disturbances.

GIVEN ANOTHER CHANCE
Councilman Lee drew the admission from Chief of Police Wright that on a former occasion Zimmerman had been drinking and that Chief of Police Wright had given him another chance.

PIERCE IMPARTIAL
The testimony was presented by City Attorney Wilbur S. Pierce who throughout the hearing maintained an attitude of impartiality, siding with neither complainants

MOVING TOWARDS EUROPE

The United States is moving towards Europe at a rapid rate.

Our continent, of course, is anchored fairly fast to its present position, but new speed devices are bringing the Old World and the New World closer and closer into contact.

The transoceanic airplane has not yet proved a commercial success, but it will only be a few years before the trip across the water will be made through the air in less than a day.

In the meantime steamship lines are also getting ready to speed up.

Announcement is made that a fleet of ships valued at $130,000,000 will be in commission three years from now, of which every boat will be capable of making the crossing in four days or less.

What boats of peace can accomplish will be practical to boats of war as well.

The United States moves not only closer in trade to Europe with each increase in speed, but it moves closer to Europe's troubles.

For our own protection it is essential to see that causes of trouble are wiped out at an equally fast rate of speed.

NOT AN AMATEUR

Europe proposes to give Ruth Elder the cold shoulder instead of the glad hand because, so it is said, she flew for commercial purposes.

Once again the old story of amateur vs. professional bobs to the surface, with a haughty look of disdain at the pro.

Why this should be is one of the mysteries of the seven ages.

Professional baseball players are highly regarded for their ability, as any American will testify. Of this class Babe Ruth stands about as high in popular esteem as our most eminent statesmen.

Professional generals have led and professional soldiers have fought almost every war of consequence.

Professional cooks prepare meals that are eaten by professional men and women.

We submit that Ruth Elder is just as much entitled to the rewards of her daring flight as are the professional politicians abroad who are now blocking the recognition that this brave woman deserves.

Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York is reported to have been shadowed all the time he was on the other side of the Atlantic. Maybe it was only Tammany's European agents checking up on him.

Reading the motor accidents we are led to believe that this industry has the greatest turnover of any.

How To Earn Money!

There seems to be no end of the things that folks with the right spirit can accomplish at home! So many, many of the writers to the column are handicapped in some way, either by sickness or having to stay right at home to care for some one else who is sick, that it is remarkable to me the way these people succeed. I can't help thinking that those of us who have all our faculties and good health shouldn't consider earning a living or earning extra money to help out the family income a burden at all. I wish you could read all the letters I get from people who are so greatly handicapped!

Do you think that it would be possible for one or two young men to start a small laundry, say with machines that could operate in their own homes? I've never heard of a great deal of experience, though I have often wanted to try. Could you advise me about it?

I don't see why such a plan wouldn't work out nicely. With one washing machine going continually you could do quite a bit of washing in a day and the same is true with a so-called household mangle. It seems to me that the concerns from whom you bought your machines would demonstrate them for you and the only cost would be the price of the machines. But wouldn't it have to be a "special" sort of laundry that you would do? Fine things and small articles. It would be well worth trying, I should think.

Embroidery seems to be the thing I can do best, and I would like to make money at it. Can you tell me where I can find a market for initials and monograms, which I love to do? Some place aside from exchanges. I have tried the large stores, but they have their own workers, and our city does not seem to be a good market. I can do cut-work embroidery too. Thanking you in advance—C. T.

Let me tell you of a scheme that one girl I know has for making money in embroidery.

happens to work in a bank, where there are a great number of other girls employed, and, as she says, "some one is always getting engaged or married." She gets a group of girls together and they form a "club" and pay into it either 50 cents or a dollar every week. The money goes to the girl who embroiders, and she in turn makes each girl a half dozen luncheon napkins or monograms a dozen towels or whatever the group has decided that they want. The girl has her price for her work, and instead of each girl in the group having to pay $10 to $15 all at once she pays it so much a week and doesn't miss the money at all. Of course, the girl who does the work has to get the work done in a reasonable length of time for the girls draw for their turn at the finished embroidery. I hope I have made myself clear to you and think maybe you might try to get up a "club" of this sort among some group of girls.

building through physical culture will receive the personal attention of Lady Grey, beauty culturist, and should be signed by the writer's full name and address, which will not be used without permission. Address her, care of this newspaper.

The smart winter coat may be hip length, three-quarter length or long. It may hang straight from the shoulders and flare, it may fit at the waist and flare or it may be perfectly straight.

Fur trimming on the day-time coat is varied and lavish. There is a great deal of the conventional collar, cuff, down-the-edge and around-the-hem use of rich rolled furs, usually fox or lynx.

What Your FACE TELLS

THE BIG PART THE HANDS PLAY

We have been analyzing "What your face tells," now let us look at your hands. Where would the progress of the world be today were it not for human hands? Men's hands are responsible for the advancement of civilization. The millions of inventions that we enjoy today, the millions of books that we read today could not be if man did not possess hands.

A master can compose great music entirely through the imagination without hearing a sound. But if there were no human hands to play what the composer writes there could be no music.

Hands are molded, lined and colored in accordance with the streams of thought and feeling. There are organs of expression. They reveal the emotions. They are the index of character. So intimately are they related to our inner life of mind that one cannot picture existence without them.

If the shape and condition become modified by the work the individual does, the same modification will be shown throughout the entire body. The development of the hand tells much to the analyst. The knuckles may be huge and rough, the palms may be calloused and worn, yet it is the spirit of the hand that counts.

YOUR MARRIAGE PROBLEMS

In my opinion woman's influence over man has been greatly exaggerated. It can help him along the path he is going; can speed him up a bit; can even pull him back when he loses his way, but it seldom changes his course.

Men have used woman's influence as an excuse for their shortcomings since the beginning of time but when it comes right down to cold facts it is a rare thing when a woman is able to work the miracle of making a man do anything he doesn't want to do or to keep him from doing anything he wants to do.

Says the MAN

Dear Patricia Lee:

My wife and I have separated because of a difference in our religious beliefs. We have a little boy 2 years old. I consented for her to take the child on condition that she have a comfortable and respectable home for him to live in. For several months I was out of the city, and when I came back I found that she had gone to live with her brothers, whose reputations are not any too good. They have a crowd of "drunks" around at all times. Besides the place is not sanitary. The baby sleeps in a room with three other people and the only fresh air he gets during the day is out on the pavement with rubbish all around. I have begged my wife to come back to me on account of the child, but she refuses to do this unless I remarry her in her church. I have refused to do this because I have no faith in it and believe it a sin under the circumstances. Don't you think it is too bad that my precious baby must suffer because of this? Gilbert T.

Yes, I do think it is too bad, but since you place religious prejudices above your child's welfare, I suppose he must suffer. I can't help but wonder what sort of a religious belief you and your wife have that kills love and fosters hate and allows an innocent child to suffer. It seems to me that in blindly following a mere creed you have lost sight of the purpose of religion. If your life is too bigoted to see the light you should be broad-minded enough, for the sake of the child, to compromise with yourself. If you cannot, then you should take your complaint to court and see that the child is given the proper care and surroundings.

New and decidedly original is the glove silk nightgown with V-neck, armholes and uneven hemline, finished with puffed scalloping. The hem hangs long in the back and short in front.

What sort of religion is this? A home is broken up; a little child is denied the right to a wholesome and happy childhood; and weeds of hate and distrust have sprung up where the flower of love once grew. To me it all

Dolores Costello in "OLD SAN FRANCISCO" is a Warner Bros. picture.

SYNOPSIS

The vast acres of Vasquez family occupied by Don Hernandez Vasquez and his beautiful granddaughter Dolores are coveted by Buckwell, San Francisco politician boss.

Vasquez, to sell, Brandon's nephew, Terry, falls in love with Dolores. Buckwell plans to void the Vasquez land grant. Terry warns Vasquez and offers aid. Vasquez won't listen and tells him that Dolores must marry Don Luis, young Spaniard.

Terry is heartbroken, leaves without seeing Dolores, and plans to forget heartache in pleasures of San Francisco's Barbary Coast.

"None of that," retorted Terry with a scowl and roughly shoved her away. "I'm paying for this party—ain't that enough?"

"Well, of all the conceits!" the girl exclaimed with a shrug. "Never mind, kid; you can't affect me—lap, she flounced across the floor and joined a livelier group. "Say," she greeted them, "the kid's in the dumps. Maybe a few tears would wash the grout out of his system. Gimme a drink at that keyhole, and, sitting down to the piano, she broke into a sentimental ballad.

That was in the day when waiters were very agreeable and the white vested quartette that was preparing the table acquiesced when one of the guests asked them for a little closer harmony. Putting their heads together, they raised an old fashioned cocktail, and Buckwell took his whisky straight with the remark, "I prefer my liquor straight—and my women—not so straight."

Brandon approved with a snifle. While waiting for the bartender to serve them, the sudden cessation of general conversation caused them to turn inquiringly. They saw one of Old San Francisco's famous Barbary Coast characters stride into the bar room.

It was Old Testament Charley. He was familiarly referred to by this cognomen because he was once a preacher, but the vice that was rampant in San Francisco following the gold rush had been too much for his tired, overworked brain and it gave out under the strain. His delusion was that he ruled as Emperor of San Francisco and the salutes of the Barbary Coast were his particularly misbehaved subjects.

Old Testament Charley was tall and thin with the face of a dreamer, rather than that of a madman. In spite of his continued efforts to reform the world, and San Francisco in particular, he was tolerated the length and breadth of the Cocktail Route for the harmless, kindly and—to many in the saloons—amazing fact that he really was.

Charley's was not the only brilliant mind that had been deranged in an effort to quell the deplorable conditions that existed in Frisco, especially from 1900 to 1906. Many good men lost fortunes, health and sanity by repeated attempts to reform the city and some of its unprincipled inhabitants.

Old Testament Charley frowned with the displeasure of a monarch as he surveyed the long line of gay patrons before the bar.

Some of them noted his displeasure and passed long enough to raise their liquor glasses in salute and bow low in mock obeisance.

"It pains me, my good subjects," he commented seriously, "to see you so heedless of my royal edict. You know how I have admonished just such frivolous behavior as this."

A general laugh interrupted his tirade. Charley was tolerated but not heeded by patrons of the bar.

"Here's how, Emperor!" called Buckwell with a cynical smile, and he deliberately drained his whisky with a quick toss.

Other men followed Buckwell's example and passed their eyes blazing at the gross insult to his dignity and command.

"And you—" he fairly shouted, pointing at Buckwell with trembling fingers. "You are the backbone of the tenderloin!"

Their voices high with "Only a bird in a gilded cage—a beautiful sight to see," etc.

Shouts of laughter greeted the effort, and everyone except Terry joined in the familiar song. They gathered around and did their best to bring him out of his blue funk.

"Snap out of it, Terry, or you'll kill the party." "Try a bunny hug," called the girl at the piano, and she began playing a snappy dance tune.

Terry had reached the point where he was ashamed to continue indulging in his own gloom. To everyone's relief he grabbed a girl and started the two-step. At last the damper was lifted, and the party began to flame in earnest.

While Terry's celebration was in hilarious progress behind closed doors in the private section of the house upstairs, out on the street the Poodle Dog sign blinked, and its gleaming lights attracted a myriad of people to the variegated interior. Its reputation was world wide, and its flickering electric sign told all who came near that they had finally arrived.

The busy bar with its long line of bartenders was the meeting place of hundreds of convivial people. The political ring of San Francisco used it as a regular hangout, and many a shady deal was concocted in the booths that lined the room opposite the bar.

Joy seekers came often, for the Poodle Dog cocktails were potent as well as particularly palatable. In short, its broad mahogany counter dispensed liquid sunshine at a speed and regularity that fairly poured the gold and silver into the ever-waiting cash drawer.

For Chris Buckwell to pick the Poodle Dog as the place for closing the deal with Lu Fong was more from force of habit than anything else. He was its biggest and steadiest patron. Just the mere fact of his being there meant that scores of his friends and satellites were also present. They welcomed an opportunity to bask in the spotlight of his notoriety and to pick up the crumbs of any political deal that might transpire. And so it happened that when Buckwell, accompanied by Brandon, pushed open the swinging door of the Poodle Dog they were greeted on all sides by men who knew that Buckwell's power in the underworld and in the city's politics could either make them or break them.

The newcomers readily found a vacant place before the bar and ordered their drinks. Brandon took two small doors swung back and forth on their hinges. Charley had strode from the room while the men were drinking.

"To you!" returned several men in unison.

Inasmuch as Buckwell had bought the drinks it was a natural return of toasts, but he did not think of it in that way. He was greatly pleased with himself. He loved the spotlight of notoriety and the fawning advances of those gathered about him. More than all, that he loved the feeling of power and superiority that the incident with Charley had given him.

As Buckwell put his empty glass on the bar he motioned the bartender.

"Yes, boss!" inquired the man in shirt sleeves, bending across the gleaming mahogany surface.

THE JOHNSONS PASS ON

When the American Legion gets under way next season two of the Johnsons who made baseball history will be missing from their accustomed places.

The fans will miss Walter Johnson. It is doubtful if they will pay much attention to the absence of Ban Johnson.

Walter Johnson could be appreciated by baseball fans, for his smoke ball was something tangible. The whine of that smoking projectile was heard in every corner of the country, and Walter Johnson rode it to fame.

So they will miss him, and mourn his retirement. Yet Ban Johnson did far more for baseball than any player who ever wore a uniform. It was Ban Johnson who brought the American League into being. It was Ban Johnson who fought and battled almost single-handed to establish that league, while powerful influences were brought to bear unfavorably upon him. It was old Ban who became known as a tyrant.

Tyrants even those tyrants who are honest are never popular figures. And tyrannical Ban Johnson, fighting to the end because he had to fight all the way for his existence and the existence of his league, will be forgotten with a sense of relief by those who only knew him as an iron personality who be allowed defiance at the world from a Chicago office.

COMISKEY TURNED AGAINST HIM

Ban Johnson who is now a sick man, lost something more than health when he dedicated his energy to the league which heaves a sigh of relief at his exit.

He lost, for instance, the friendship of Charlie Comiskey, the Chicago owner of the White Sox.

These two started along the American League trail together. Comiskey, a ball player, and a good one, was Johnson's pal when Ban was writing baseball as a youngster.

Through this intimacy the American League took form and became an actuality.

In the early struggles these two fought side by side, schemed and planned and were inseparable.

And yet, when Ban Johnson stumbled into a hostile conference room at Chicago to fight his last fight for existence—a fight against his own league this time—Comiskey, his former pal, was arrayed against him.

In the frequent warfares of the American League these two had become bitter enemies.

This was one of the friendships which Ban Johnson sacrificed—and he sacrificed health besides. He exhausted himself fighting the battles of a league that today is grateful it can dispose of him.

NEVER GOT THE SUPPORT HE WANTED

Ban Johnson centered only in his league, was not too busy to back up those who were working for him.

The American League umpires will tell you that Ban Johnson stood four-square behind them in any conflict of opinion. The efficiency of that corps of umpires became almost legendary.

I imagine that if Johnson harbors any bitterness against the American League, his bitterness is tinged with irony.

He, who had backed up every member of his league in moments of stress found that he could expect little or no support when the time arrived for his crucial moment.

So Ban Johnson may be bitter, and who can blame him for a thoroughly human reaction here?

His bitterness against Judge Kenesaw M. Landis is perfectly understandable.

Landis, never identified with baseball, today rules the game. Johnson, wrapped up in baseball, with twenty-six of meritorious service, behind him, cannot understand this.

To him Landis is an intruder. Ban Johnson's opposition to Landis is on that ground. He appreciates what Landis did for baseball but, remembering what he himself has done for the American League, Johnson will never savor his expulsion, and it amounts to that, while Landis is heaped with honors.

BEARS GIRD FOR CONFLICT WITH TROJANS

California's Golden Bears, no longer exactly a "mystery team," but still very much an unknown power in Conference grid competition, left Berkeley last night for Southern California and the battle with U. S. C.

Ned Green, tackle, the one squad member about whose condition there was a slight question, boarded the Padre under his own power, in high spirits and fully prepared to start Saturday's game.

Coach "Nibs" Price's organization of 47, rested after a week without scrimmage, but trained, nevertheless, to add a high degree of player confidence as any team which ever journeyed forth to football combat. They're a confident outfit, these Bears, sure of themselves and determined.

FIVE STRAIGHT

Against the Trojans Saturday. In the Coliseum at Los Angeles, Coach Price's men will finally place themselves in 1927 football. Already in five straight victories the Bears have established their comeback, a comeback almost unbelievable in view of the joint and several beatings administered by the rest of the Conference last season.

No longer is there a mystery as to whether California is weak or strong. The Bears are not weak. But the question to be answered Saturday is, just how strong are these rejuvenated Bruins?

Enthusiasm and admiration for what the Golden Bear has already accomplished has carried its followers beyond all ordinary bounds. They do not hope for a victory now—they expect it. They have, as matters stand, an approximately even chance to win what they expect, but U. S. C. at the same time, is fundamentally and essentially as strong a team as is now playing football in the West, and if Bear followers are entitled to expect a victory Saturday, they are entitled to expect a Conference championship.

The championship they will be favored to win, if U. S. C. Trojans are beaten.

RAINING IN SOUTH

It was raining yesterday in Los Angeles. The weather man held out hope for sunshine and a fairly dry turf Saturday, but he wasn't sure.

A slippery field, without question, would prove a severe handicap to California's fast backfield, and the sharp cut-ins and flank plays rehearsed by Marcus, Eisan and Lom would be less certain of success. A badly drenched field might reduce the Bear attack principally to the bucks of Ralph Dougery, fullback, who is the probable starter with the fast Bear trio in the backfield.

The flank movements of the U. S. C. attack featuring Captain Morley Drury also would be handicapped, but the plays with the Trojan captain carrying inside the deers might go better on a soft turf than California's pregame attack.

BORN OUT

Coach "Nibs" Price's squad, if Green is okay as he appeared, is at full strength, in the best condition of the season. One Trojan end, Charley O'Brien, is reported out of the play, but otherwise the Trojans, too, are ready to display their best power. Probable lineups indicated from both camps follow:

LEE MOVES DISMISSAL

Officer Zimmerman admitted

Will He Gallop This Year?

LIGHT HORSE HARRY WILSON, Army captain and one of the greatest football players in the world.

El Cerrito Police Officer Is Acquitted Of Charges

nor the defense. Associated with him was Attorney W. F. Huber, who prepared the charges sworn to by the two complainants.

URGES TOLERANCE

After Pierce had closed the testimony he addressed the spectators urging them to bury their grievances and factions and to work for the future of El Cerrito.

"After all is said and done," said Pierce, "the hiring and firing of an official is not sufficient to cause us to have grievances against each other. As long as these factions exist in El Cerrito, this city can not go ahead. As long as the council and you people continue to squabble, so long will the progress of El Cerrito be retarded. We need more tolerance here and everywhere."

His address was greeted with applause from the spectators, the first sign of demonstration throughout the evening.

SERIOUS CHARGE—HUBER
Associate Attorney Huber called attention of the council to the charges and the testimony presented and declared that the disturbance during the Byrd hearing did not warrant the interference of the officers. He charged Traffic Officer Zimmerman of interfering while under the influence of partisanship against the supporters of Engineer Byrd. He declared that it was serious when an officer carried a weapon while under the influence of liquor and called attention to the fact that Zimmerman had admitted he had been drinking.

OFFICER'S FATHER PRESENT
Councilman Charles Zimmerman father of the officer, who remained on the council hearing the charges, although it was suggested before testimony was presented that as a relative of the defendant he withdraw, addressed the spectators and told the stand of the council in voting for or against the matters as their consciences showed them to do. He declared that in matters of great importance such as street improvements, sewer work, etc., the council voted unanimously. It is only in such small matters like the hiring or firing of men that there is opposition, he declared.

LEE SCORES COUNCIL
Councilman Lee called the attention of the citizens of the manner in which El Cerrito is being talked about, because of the fractional fights. He scored the council for its attitude in the Byrd hearing, accusing them of merely upholding Hinds because he had declared that either Byrd or he would have to go, and that by upholding one man they had caused dissatisfaction among many.

OFFERED APOLOGY
Mrs. Faria testified that Officer Zimmerman came to her house several days after the charges had been made and offered to apologize to her. She declared that at the time Zimmerman made the statement that Faria could proceed with the charges if he he had had a few drinks," said Councilman Lee. "an Chief Wright admitted that Zimmerman had been drinking. No habitual drinker of liquor has a right to be an officer. In my opinion he is guilty of a far greater offense than Arthur Byrd and I make a motion that he be discharged immediately."

NO SECOND

He was unable to get a second to the motion.

It was at this point that Faria arose and asked whether he had any course for an appeal. He was informed that he could bring the charges into court but that otherwise there was no means of appealing the decision of the board.

LUTZ CHARGES GRUDGE
Mayor Fred Lutz declared that it was he that had ordered the officers to attend the Byrd hearing because he "feared there might be a disturbance." He declared that he did not object to anybody talking at any session of the council but could not let everyone talk at once and out of order.

"The charges against Officer Zimmerman tonight are simply a grudge brought by some people dissatisfied with the action of the council in the Byrd hearing," Chief of Police Wright when called upon to make his recommendation, declared that Officer Zimmerman should in his opinion be retained that he had always done his duty, had been a good worker and was always above board. It was upon this recommendation that the motion was made to acquit the officer.

MOVE ACQUITTAL
Councilman Frank McDermott made the motion that Officer Zimmerman be acquitted of the charges and the motion received the second of Councilman George Conlon. The vote was called for with Councilman Lee dissenting.

HUMOROUS ANGLES
The hearing had its humorous angles in spite of Mayor Lutz's admonition. When Kaufman was on the stand the questions of "clapping and hollering" and "hissing and booing" arose and the necessity of distinguishing between the manner of applause was called for, by Mayor Lutz. Kaufman was not clear which was which. He demonstrated the "clapping and hollering" while the mayor demonstrated the "hissing and booing." It was well explained to the merriment of the crowd.

OFFERED APOLOGY
Mrs. Faria testified that Officer Zimmerman came to her house several days after the charges had been made and offered to apologize to her. She declared that at the time Zimmerman made the statement that Faria could proceed with the charges if he wanted to that it would do him no good.

Mrs. Ernest Howard will entertain the ladies auxiliary and the Missionary Society of the First Baptist church this afternoon at 2 o'clock at her home in Richmond Annex. A social hour will follow the business meeting.

CHAMBERS PACKED

The council chambers were packed with spectators drawn by the sensational charges, but their actions were in contrast to the stormy Byrd hearing. Only at the close of speeches by the members of the council and the attorneys did they break loose into applause. There was, no "hooting and hissing and clapping and hollering" until after the verdict had been given and then the crowd resumed its former attitude those favoring the verdict applauding and those who felt that the officer should have been discharged "hooting and hissing."

Pain Gone! Rub Sore, Rheumatic Aching Joints

Stop "dosing" rheumatism. Its pain only, St. Jacobs Oil will stop any pain, and not one rheumatism case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub St. Jacobs Oil right on the tender spot, and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain, and distress. St. Jacobs Oil is a harmless rheumatism liniment which never discolors, and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache and neuralgia. Limber up! Get a small trial bottle of old-time, honest St. Jacobs Oil from any drug store, and in a moment you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer! Rub-rheumatism away.

DYSKINESIA

Dyskinesia or habitual constipation wrecks more health every day than any other single thing. It saps strength and vitality, causes nervous diseases of the stomach, kidneys and heart, brings on high blood pressure and makes you old years before your time. The insidious condition of Dyskinesia is the result of our abnormal habits of living which place too great a strain upon the vital organs, especially the liver.

The liver becoming weak or sluggish fails to supply the bowels with enough bile. The bowels "lie up" and the poisonous waste retained affects the whole system including the vital organs. The liver occasionally, needs a little help, and there's nothing better for this, as medical men now know, than a little ox gall. Ox gall is a remarkable natural stimulant for the human liver, promoting its normal active functioning, so essential to internal cleanliness and health. Dioxol tablets are genuine ox gall in dainty and tasteless form, each tablet representing 10 drops of pure ox gall. To be sure of getting the genuine ox gall, be sure of getting Dioxol. They cost less than 2¢ each at good drug stores, and a few drops will

All Richmond Team Meets Saturday To Plan For Game

The All Richmond football eleven will hold a pow-wow at the home of John Walker, former All-Navy quarterback and organizer of the team tomorrow night at 7 o'clock. At this time, the team will discuss the game with the Salenians of San Francisco to be played Sunday afternoon at Nicholl park.

The following are asked to be present: Mariola, Holland, Muth, Vargas, Walker, Doug Grey, Baldwin, Schaeffer, Bill Millicovich, Mitchell Millicovich, Pharo, Bob Paasch, Dick Paasch, Burch, Carson, Hely, Fraser, Tuhy and any others interested.

The line-up of the All-Richmond looks good. Many stars of U. H. S. in the past few years have signed for the season.

Millicovich will be at fullback; Holland at halfback with Mariola playing the other half; Joe Baldwin will hold down left end; Bob and Dick Paasch and Charles Burch will play the tackles and Gay Vargas will be the right guard.

Hely, former All-Navy guard in the Hawaiian Islands, will hold down left guard.

Walker will play at his usual position at quarter. Cleveland will be center and Pharo, right end.

The two Paasches and Burch in the line are expected to do some damage to the Salenian defense. Walker will have as substitutes Mrs. R. C. Englebert, 769 Seventh street, Richmond.

FATHER COLLINS VISITOR
Rev. Harold Collins, formerly assistant priest at St. Mar's church and now serving at the Star of the Sea parish, of San Francisco, was given a hearty greeting by his many friends on the occasion of a visit to Richmond yesterday.

TWO BIRTHS
Two births were reported at the Richmond Maternity hospital yesterday. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Greaves, of Crockett, and a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Englebert, 769 Seventh street, Richmond.

When The Vandal Struck

Centuries ago, Rome paid a terrible price in life and treasure by failing to regard the vandal hordes as a serious menace. In the end, the same carelessness cost Rome its liberty and civilization. The modern burglar is the successor to the ancient vandal, but his efforts are of no avail when treasured belongings are protected in an American Trust Company safe deposit vault. A good-sized box may be rented for as little as three dollars a year, and articles are safeguarded alike from theft, fire and all known dangers. Buy this protection today.

ALIMENTS OF THE HEART
QUICKLY RELIEVED
Taft, Calif. April 19, 1927. Fong Wan Herb Co., Oakland, Calif.

Gentlemen, I suffered from Leakage of the Heart, Enlargement, Pain and High Blood Pressure. The pain extended to my back and left arm. I tried many local physicians, but found no relief at all. After I had seen your advertisement about overcoming Heart Trouble I decided to write to you for Herbs. Your Herb treatment is indeed wonderful. When I had finished taking a four-week supply of the herbs, all my pain had left me.

You deserve unstinted praise for what you have done for me. I shall continue to take the herbs until I am certain that I have completely recovered and am sound and healthy in every respect.

Yours very truly,

Roll Call Organization To Be Perfected By Red Cross Chapter Tuesday

For the purpose of completing organization for the Eleventh Roll Call of the American Red Cross from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving, a meeting is called for next Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the Red Cross Headquarters, corner Tenth and Nevin streets.

George A. Rader will preside at the meeting, and all sub-committee chairmen are requested to be present. An invitation is extended to all interested to attend. Homer W. Patterson is president of the Richmond Red Cross chapter, and Mrs. Hazel Pickford has been named roll call secretary. The following sub-chairmen are busy with their plans for the success of the roll call in Richmond: Industrial plants, S. S. Ripley, business section, A. G. Papadakis; professional, H. W. Patterson, women's groups, Mrs. Earl Scofield; service clubs, Rev. H. T. Oberholzer; foreign groups, Mrs. Emily Astell; education, Walter T. Helms; supplies and clerical, Mrs. B. W. Brothers; booths, Mrs. George A. Rader; publicity, Mrs. Francis Kent.

5,000,000 GOAL
The Red Cross has this year set a goal of five million members a number found necessary to finance the vast amount of and increase in Red Cross activities.

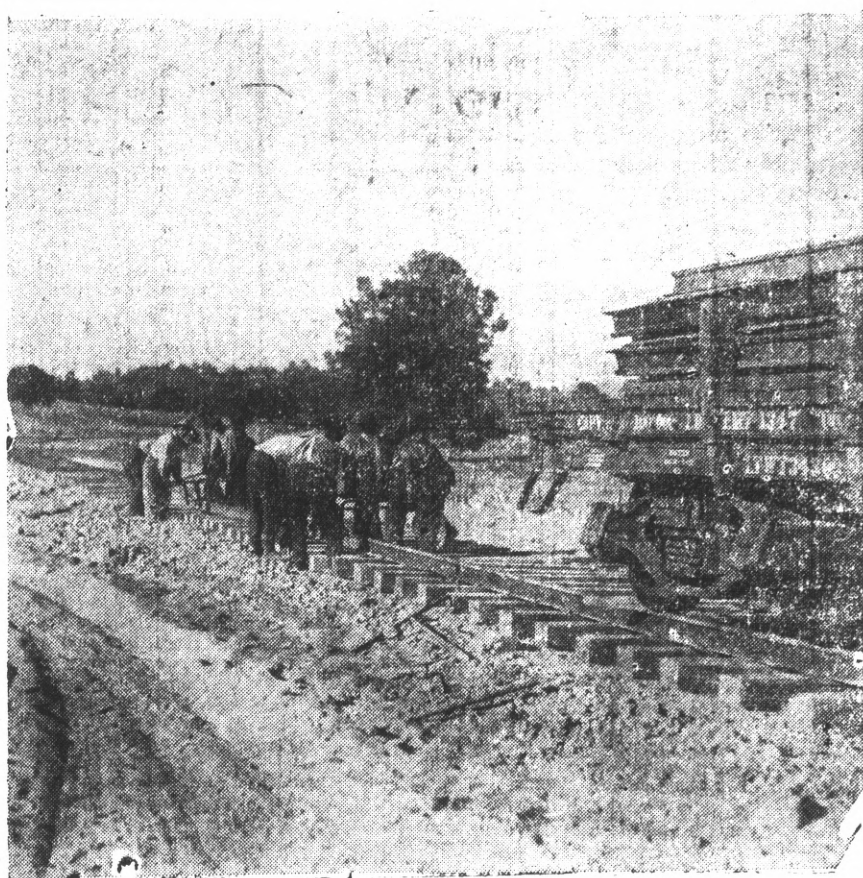

Nearly a million persons, victims of 98 disasters, have received assistance from the American Red Cross during the last fiscal year. Throughout the civilized world and especially in this country, floods raging over thousands of miles, fires destroying villages, tornadoes and hurricanes sweeping over entire states and death-dealing explosions combined to make the year one of unprecedented calamities. BUSY THIS YEAR

Figures taken from the organization's annual report show that more persons have required assistance from the Red Cross this year than in any like period in the history of the country. While the great Mississippi flood was largely responsible for this, the Red Cross was called on to give assistance following 76 disasters in this country, in addition to 21 foreign catastrophes. Tornadoes lead the list of American disasters for the last year with a total of 28, and floods run a close second with 21. Next on the list are fires, which ravaged parts of 11 communities. Other disasters included hurricanes, mine explosions, hailstorms, railroad wrecks and disease epidemics.

GREAT RELIEF PROGRAM
The Florida hurricane of September, 1926 and the Mississippi Valley flood were the two outstanding disasters of the year. In Florida, the organization expended nearly $4,500,000 for the relief of approximately 40,000 sufferers, carrying on a relief and reconstruction program over a period of five months.

During the emergency relief work in the flooded Mississippi Valley more than 600,000 persons were aided by the organization in the eight different states: Illinois, Kentucky, Missouri, Arkansas, Tennessee, Oklahoma, Mississippi and Louisiana. A relief fund of over $17,000,000 is being administered by the Red Cross, of which more than $12,000,000 had been used at the close of the fiscal year. An extensive reconstruction program is still under way there, and up to that time more than 90,000 families had been given rehabilitation assistance.

Full Vote Necessary For Passage Of Water Bonds

The great importance of next Tuesday's election, at which the people are to pass on a water distribution system, makes it imperative that every public-spirited citizen should vote, it was said yesterday by John H. Kimball, Secretary of the East Bay Municipal Utility District. Kimball, as Secretary of the Board, has personal charge of all election matters for the District.

He stressed the point that a two-thirds vote is necessary to carry this election and that a full vote must be cast if this bond issue is to go over. He stated that in his opinion this election is more important for local welfare than even a presidential election. Commenting on the responsibility resting on the voters he said:

"Three years ago the District voted $39,000,000 bonds for the purpose of bringing a water supply from the Mokelumne River to the District. This was for a dam and headworks, ninety-five miles of aqueduct and tunnels and other structures. This work is nearing completion and the water will soon be here. We are now voting on another bond issue to distribute that water to the ultimate consumers throughout the District.

"Favorable reports are being received from all parts of the East Bay on the $6,000,000 bond issue for this water distribution system to be voted on Tuesday, November 1. Seventy-seven improvement Clubs, local unions, civic bodies and fraternal organizations have given their unqualified endorsement. The public mind has apparently reached the conclusion that we must have a distributing system to bring the Mokelumne water to our homes and factories. People realize the necessity of it and appreciate the fact that this is the only way to get a revenue and stop the increasing taxes being levied each year to pay interest on Mokelumne bonds. The general sentiment for the bonds is overwhelming. But the time has come for us to look the facts squarely in the face and remember that ONLY VOTES COUNT.

"Public approval, favorable sentiment and resolutions of endorsement are valuable only when, as and if they are backed up by ballots. The people's sentiment is expressed in words but the people's will is expressed only at the ballot box. The acid test of good citizenship, personal patriotism, and community spirit is not what the individual thinks or says but what he does on election day.

"Three years ago, on November 4, 1924, 31,998 voters, voted against the original $39,000,000 bond issue to bring in Mokelumne water. But 81,919 voters went to the polls and voted 'Yes' on this proposition. Now this water is almost at our gates, and what shall we do with it? Davis, Goethals and Mulholland, Pardee, Barrows, Latham and Miller, all our engineers and all but one of our officially chosen Directors recommend this $26,000,000 bond issue to distribute the water and put us in the water business for all time. It is up to the voters again to say whether we shall quit or finish the job. There are 198,000 registered voters. And who of them are going to decide it?

"Are we going to leave it to the 31,998 'antis' alone to do the voting (as they always do) while the other 166,002 of us stay at home? If we do, the true sentiment of the community will be nullified, the greatest and most beneficent enterprise we have ever undertaken will go unfinished, the fair name of our East Bay cities will be tarnished and our whole future will be blighted. It takes two-thirds vote to win this fight. It can't be done by slacking, by staying at home, by letting George do it. But it can be done and it will be done, even without the hurrah and excitement of a presidential election to urge us to the polls. It every last one of the 166,002 of us will set off an alarm clock on his conscience, mark Tuesday, November 1 on his calendar as Duty Day, take a solemn oath that he will engage in no business or pleasure on that day until he has voted, and in home and street, in office, store and factory, pass along the watch word 'ONLY VOTES COUNT.'

The rummage sale being conducted at a store at the corner of Washington and Richmond avenues, Point Richmond, by the Trinity Episcopal guild was successful in its first day, yesterday. It was reported. The sale will continue today and tomorrow. Mrs. George Erskine is in charge.

7492 CHILDREN OF SCHOOL AGE IN RICHMOND

The final report of Registrar Arthur Shipley who has completed the registration of minors in the school department shows that there are 7492 children of school age in Richmond. Of this number 3698 are boys and 3784 are girls.

There are only 33 children past school age who are not employed, according to the report. Sixteen are boys and 17 girls.

Thirty-two children have neither fathers nor mothers; 397 are bereft of fathers and the mothers of 228 have passed away. Of this total, several cases are in the one family without one or both parents.

Classed by ages, the six-year-old children outnumber all the others, there being 543. There are 539 in the seven-year age. The smallest groups are those of the age of 17 years and the first year, there being 285 of the former and 296 of the latter.

There are no totally blind children registered. Five are partially blind and 25 have other physical defects including one deaf child. Fourteen of the disabled children are able to attend classes.

The registration which is taken every two years, according to Miss Nora Ashfield, gives a comprehensive survey of the number, education, physical condition and other data of the minors in the city.

A tabulation of the nationalities of the parents showed: Children with native-born fathers, 4691; with native-born mothers, 4938; with fathers naturalized citizens, 1399; with mothers naturalized citizens, 1127; with fathers not citizens, 1402; with mothers not citizens, 1427.

At noon a luncheon was served at the Hotel Carquinez with Mrs. Myrtle Brown, retiring director, and Mrs. Irma Randolph, incoming director as guests of honor. Mrs. Brown will leave for Chicago soon where she will join her husband who has accepted a governmental position there. Mrs. Brown has also accepted a position in that city, as soloist in one of the large churches. She will also continue her work as choral director and instructor in voice culture.

Mrs. Irma Randolph leader of the Park Boulevard Choral in Oakland, and teacher of voice culture in Richmond, has been engaged to fill the vacancy. Applications constantly received by the club from those desiring to join the organization's activities indicate the interest which is being manifested in the work. The club will meet again next Friday at the same time in St. Edmund's Guild hall.

The condition of the former road was such as to cause considerable suffering to accident victims being taken to the hospital for treatment.

At the same time the landscaping of the grounds surrounding the detention home is going ahead rapidly. The area in front of the building and reaching to Alhambra avenue is to be planted in lawns, flowers and shrubs and a driveway lined with shrubs will be laid out.
